TESTIMONY HEARD

Baker Described As Showman, Radio
Operator

LITTLE ROCK —(AP)—The government, prosecuting a mail fraud charge attempted to establish before a United States district court jury here Tuesday that photos and case histories of deceased persons had been used in mailed literature advertising a claimed cancer cure offered by Baker hospitals at Muscatine, Iowa, and Eureka Springs, Ark.

Linked with the prosecution's opening arguments, the course of testimony was intended to show that Baker, described as a former showman later magazine publisher and radio station operator of Muscatine, became interested in a non-surgical cancer treatment offered at a Kansas City sanitarium operated by Dr. Charles O. Ozias; that he made radio appeals in 1929 for volunteer "test" cases to undergo treatments at the Ozias sanitarium, partially at his expense, and publicized benefits of the treatment; subsequently founding the Baker hospitals in Iowa and Arkansas which advertised that they could cure cancer and other grave maladies "without operation, radium or X-ray."

After reading into the record thousands of words of extracts from Baker literature relating to the 1929 test treatment and including the claim that "cancer is conquered." The government brought relatives of test-patients, and other witnesses to the stand to testify that his patients had died within a period of months after the treatments. Death certificates bearing various dates from November, 1929, to May 1930, were placed in evidence.

Two other principal exhibits of the government were pamphlet reprints of "TNT," Baker magazine, published in 1930, relating benefits obtained by the test-patients, with illustrations, and the 1934 publication of a Baker biography, "Doctors, Dynamiters and Gunmen," also reprinted in 1936, containing similar references.

Vaudeville Show at Saenger Friday

"Water Follies" Will
Be Test As to Future
Stage Shows

Remmel Young, manager of the Saenger theater announced that the stage attraction here Friday would be a trial as to bringing other vaudeville acts to Hope.

There has been many requests concerning stage acts and why the Saenger did not play them more often. Running such stage shows runs into quite a sum of money and it has always been a question as to whether the people of Hope and the trade territory wanted these unit shows, Mr. Young said.

Headed by Edith Miller, Olympic diving champion, and Murray Jones, late of Billy Rose's world famous Aquacade, Raynell's "Water Follies" will open a one-day engagement on the Saenger theater stage, starting Friday.

These aquatic stars perform in a special six-thousand gallon portable swimming pool. There is a line of beautiful diving and dancing girls, too, equally at home in or out of the water.

Fifteen diving and dancing girls perform in a special six-thousand gallon portable swimming pool, right on the state. And in addition to the taking part in the water portion of the show will be Edith Miller, Olympic diving champion, and Murray Jones, late of Billy Rose's world famous Aquacade.

This unique show is offered in two parts, first the vaudeville presentation, and then the aquacade show. To be seen in the vaudeville offering are the Mandel Bros., comedy; Ray Goode on the tight wire; Tirk, juggler; La Blanc & Du Chayne, dancing team; and the Vi Mar-Duo, girl roller skating stars.

"Water Follies" is definitely a hit of the season. The Saenger Theater has gone to the great expense to bring one of the most unusual shows in America to Hope and are expecting large crowds.

Cortex will conduct the eighteen piece pit band, which will play for the entire presentation.

Senate Secretary Sees Everything

But Leslie Biffle Isn't
Publishing It Right
Now

By PRESTON GROVER
WASHINGTON — Washington chroniclers would give a mint for the compact card-index record that Leslie Biffle keeps of those dramatic little moments of Senate history which never see daylight.

Few senators know that he keeps it. Only one, to our knowledge, ever saw any part of it. He was the late Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas. Biffle was one of his closest confidants.

Biffle is secretary to the Democratic majority in the Senate. He has been secretary and assistant secretary for 15 years. You can imagine the nature of some of the things that come his way—stories of the pressure put on a wayward senator to get him to vote right, the painful, or pleasurable, little political deals that go on.

Like a senatorial Samuel Pepys, Biffle puts them all into his card index file in complete detail—for some future use he has not yet decided upon.

Keeps It to Himself
Magazines have offered him handsome sums for access to the material. Biffle rarely hears his first name refused. He managed to pry out of him one example of what is contained in the diary—provided no names were used.

On a certain day the Senate took a three hour afternoon recess. It was near dinner time. Most of the senators went out to eat. One went for a drink or two and in an hour was well on edge. He bought a paper and from its columns read a story that ended thus:

Members of the Leslie Huddleston post of American Legion have been invited to be the guests of the Texarkana post at a "feed" there within the next few days.

Officials of the local post want to know how many members will be able to make the trip. If you are a member and can make the trip you are urged to notify post officers by noon Sunday.

Main Concern Is Good Home; to Be Wife and Mother

Business Training Invaluable, She Finds

SHE HAD BUDGET

Stood Her in Good
Stead as House Manager

Are a girl's studies in college of real value to her after graduation—when she enters the working world or becomes a housewife and a mother? The faculty of Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., thinks its curriculum has the answer. Ruth Millett, whose popular column, "We the Women" appears in The Star, went out to Stephens and watched this great scholastic experiment at first hand. She tells what she saw and heard, in three articles—the last of which appears below.

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Service Staff Writer

COLUMBIA, Mo. — "I've achieved what they all want," says Mrs. George Guyan, a recent college graduate, speaking of the girls still in college. She doesn't say it boastfully, but only as one who realizes that she is lucky. The fact that she feels "lucky" is the best recommendation of her education.

For looking at it from a purely material standpoint, Mrs. Guyan is just one of the ten thousands of young women married to young men starting their careers.

In two years of marriage the Guyans have saved for a baby and for a car. And now they are saving for their own furniture, and considering the best system for saving toward the day when eight-months' old Gwen will be ready for college.

In the first year of her marriage, Mrs. Guyan held down a job. Now doing her own housework, making her own clothes, and looking after Gwen are job enough.

Her education is being put to the test. So, how practical was it? And how would she change things if she had it to do over again?

Business Training Invaluable
Well, she thinks the business training was fine. For it enabled her to go into a strange city, and in two weeks be able to choose among four jobs.

It also enabled her to work the first year of her marriage—and that came in pretty handy.

So, if she had it to do over again she would take the business training.

But—
She would go in more heavily for the homemaker's courses that were available. She would take child training, sewing, consumer education and interior decoration.

Her main concern right now, and probably in the years to come, is in making a good home. And she would like to have the very best possible background for that.

She is sure that the courses in literature, art and science have helped her to understand and appreciate all that she sees and reads.

And she thinks that she is a better companion to her husband because she went to college, as he did.

One other practical thing she learned in college that has stood her in good stead is budgeting.

Early Budget Training
As a student at Stephens College—a woman's college that never forgets its students are women—she had to keep an expense book, listing every cent she spent, and then planning how to get more out of her allowance.

When she married, she found that she had to keep just as detailed accounts in order to show a husband that two people have to economize to live on the salary the young man had been able to spend alone.

Her advice to the girl who is lucky enough to go to college is:

"Learn to do something at which you can earn a living. But don't neglect to learn the things a woman needs to know in order to get the most out of every-day living.

"If you marry—and that is what most girls want—you will be a homemaker first. The 'trade' you learned, and earned your living by for a year or two, will be forgotten.

"The things that will be worrying you are how to keep your baby healthy, how to save five dollars by making your own draperies, and how to pick out a dining-room table that is as good as it looks."

Anti-Lynching Bill Nears Passage in the Lower House

F. D. Emergency Funds Approved in Committee

STARK ON STAND

Admiral Fears Coalition Against United States

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Contention over the constitutionality of the legislation and a plan against opening "wounds" of sectionalism edged the Gavan anti-lynching bill toward house passage Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the house appropriations committee approved, in general, President Roosevelt's recommendations for immediate emergency defense and neutrality outlays and proposed that congress provide $267,197,908 for the navy, navy, coast guard and federal bureau of identification.

The money would go for work already started or expected to be undertaken during the remainder of the fiscal year ending June 30, in connection with neutrality patrols, increases in training of military personnel, and counter-espionage.

The committee's approval of the administration's recommendations almost without change was characterized by some legislators as not giving an accurate indication of the group's economy-mindedness in this election year.

Admiral Harold Stark, the navy's chief of operations, asserted to the house naval affairs committee Wednesday that the United States Navy could not defend the Western hemisphere "comfortably" against a coalition of "have not" powers.

Appearing before the committee, Stark said the navy has come to consider a coalition attack as a possibility because "the international political situation is quite different from what we conceived it might be two years ago."

Road Bids Will Be Asked January 25

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. —(AP)—Bids will be received by the state highway commission January 25 on road construction projects to cost about a quarter of a million dollars.

The major project will be the relocation of United States highways 64 and 65 through the city of Conway at a cost of about $150,000. Highway Director W. W. Mitchell said two miles of concrete paving would be necessary.

Another contract will be the first step toward linking United States highway 82 to the new bridge over the Mississippi river between Lake Village, Ark., and Greenville, Miss. Bids will be asked on 4.5 miles of blacktop surfacing at an anticipated cost of $60,000. Mitchell said another 4.5 miles would be paved before completion of the bridge next summer.

Strike Threatens on Payroll Taxes

York (Pa.) Business Men Gets Offers of Support

HARRISBURG, Pa. —(AP)—Pennsylvania opened fire Tuesday on Fred Perkins, York, Pa., battery manufacturer who has rebelled against paying social security taxes to the state and federal governments.

Less than 24 hours after the 61-year-old self-styled small-business man bought back two trucks Uncle Sam sold at auction, he was sued by the state for nonpayment of $222.61 in unemployment compensation taxes.

Said Perkins:

"I have no money to pay the taxes. Neither do I have any money to pay for services of a lawyer to combat the latest move of the government to run me out of business. I intend to act as my own lawyer."

The former Cornell University football player, who once went to jail for defying the NRA, asserted he borrowed on insurance to buy his trucks back yesterday and thus square a $114.46 claim for social security taxes and penalties.

He vowed he wouldn't pay the tax when it comes due again, adding that "whatever the government gets from me, it will have to confiscate." Perkins contends that the taxes—both federal and state—are unjust.

Receives Offers of Help
The defiant manufacturer drew some consolation from "hundreds of offers of help," including financial, which he said the mail brought daily. Typical of the messages, was this telegram from a man in Canon City, Col.

"Don't give in to the federal and state pay roll robbery. Many persons are behind you. Organizing pay roll strike out here."

Another fellow enclosed a $1 bill in a letter. Perkins said he might use it to start a "defense fund" but that he had no intention of soliciting contributions.

WITH THE FINNISH ARMY AT THE RUSSIAN FRONTIER —(AP)—Finnish troops established positions along a 30-mile stretch of the Russian border in central Finland Wednesday after 14 days of heavy fighting in which two Russian divisions were smashed.

They are directly east of Lake Kianta and for some distance north and south is in Finnish hands.

Fighting is continuing, with reports that another Russian division is surrounded at Kukkam, to the south.

Another Finn Victory
HELSINKI, Finland —(AP)—Two hundred Russian dead were left on a battlefield north of Lake Ladoga Wednesday when Finnish forces dispersed a Soviet battalion and took 40 prisoners, a Finnish communique announced.

British in Air Raid
LONDON, Eng. —(AP)—The British air force carried the war to Germany's shores Wednesday in an outburst of renewed air and sea warfare coming only one day after Prime Minister Chamberlain's warning that grim days are ahead.

The British sent warplanes over Germany's northwest coast in what they called reconnaissance flights and "security" bases from Copenhagen, Denmark, indicated the British can take a battle. Vivid flashes through the early dawn, the rumble of cannonading, and the sighting of numerous aircraft indicated an air battle over the island of Sylt, German air base.

The admiralty announced that the 1,985-ton British vessel Oakgrove was sunk with an undertermined number of casualties after an attack from the air, and that the 689-ton British steamer Gworia also went down.

Germans Claim Victims
BERLIN, Germany —(AP)—Three British Blenheim planes out of nine attackers were shot down Wednesday over Helgoland Bight, German officials announced.

The announcement said four German pursuit planes had driven off the invaders and inflicted casualties on British aircraft in the engagement.

The German high command reported that eight British vessels had been sunk by German planes in the North Sea on Tuesday.

The German communique said raiding planes off Norway attacked and sank two merchant ships and their two convoy vessels, and that German scouting planes sank four armed merchantmen which shot at them off the Scottish coast.

Canadians in France
PARIS, France —(AP)—Several detachments of Canadian troops, the first to join the British expeditionary force, were reported to have arrived in France Wednesday.

The arrivals were said to be members of the Montreal (Quebec) regiment.

Hitler Compelled to Make Decision

"Break" With Italy or Soviet Russia Now
Seen Probable

BUDAPEST —(AP)—Foreign observers asserted the defensive alliance reported to have been arranged by Hungary and Italy in a week-end conference at Venice probably would compel Germany to make an unwilling choice between continued friendship with these two powers and her accord with Soviet Russia.

While reports indicated the alliance provided for Italy to come to the aid of Hungary in the event of an invasion by either Germany or Russia, informed sources said it was directed mainly against Russia.

Foreign Minister Ssaky hurried from the station to Premier Count Pal (Paul) Teleki and his ministers to report on his negotiations with Italian Foreign Minister Ciano.

Afterward Teleki and Ssaky went to the palace for an audience with Hungary's regent, Admiral Nicholas Horthy. Informed sources said both Horthy and the cabinet welcomed the reported alliance.

Watch Kept on Berlin
Observers closely watched Berlin, where Adolf Hitler was said to be consulting his advisers on how to reconcile Russian friendship and Nazi ties with Hungary and Italy. Should Hitler decide to sign a definite military alliance with Russia, competent circles in Budapest said he probably could not avoid an open break with Hungary and Italy.

The newspaper Magyar Nemzet declared:

"Before the German-Soviet game becomes definite Rome wishes to assure herself of certain positions. For that she has the support of Hungary."

"In case of a German-Soviet military alliance, Italy and Hungary would face a completely new situation which might force them in their own interests to take a definite position."

Would Aid Rumania
Authoritative sources said the Italian and Hungarian foreign ministers had agreed to offer to help Rumania against a possible Russian invasion in return for a settlement of Hungary's demands on Rumania's Transylvania—which was Hungarian before the World War. Ciano was said to have urged Hungary not to seek a settlement of this issue by force.

These sources said King Carol of Rumania would be pressed for a definite reply to this offer.

Quite on Finn Front

HELSENKI —(AP)—Finland reported a lull on all fronts and official spokesmen interpreted this as indicating Russia's invading armies, smashed by the defenders are exhausted, at least for the moment.

A high Finnish official said the Russians apparently were gathering strength for a new assault but expressed belief no important offensive could be expected for some time. This observation was made in connection with Tuesday's Finnish army communique, shortest yet issued by the Finns, which said:

"Land: Except for patrol and artillery activity on both sides, January 8 passed quietly everywhere. "Sea: No operations.

"Air: On the air front nothing worth mentioning."

The Finnish spokesman indicated the military standstill was the result of the sweeping defeat which the Finns reported they inflicted upon the Russian 44th Division.

Remnants of the 44th, which the Finns destroyed in a big battle southeast of Suomussalmi on the Central-Eastern front, killing thousands, were reported to be roaming aimlessly through the cold, wild region, many facing imminent death by freezing or starving.

"Raynell's Water Follies" coming to Saenger Friday, is the only Aquatic show on tour in America today.
The water portion of the show is presented by fifteen beautiful girls in a six-thousand gallon portable swimming pool. Raynell, the lovely blonde impersonator, and producer of this unusual show was confronted with a major problem in-so-far as costumes for her water spectacle were concerned.

It was necessary for Raynell to find, or invent, a fabric from which the costumes could be made, as all costumes used in this gigantic water production had to be water proof, flashy, and durable. Over eighty separate costumes are necessary for each performance, and it was only after many days spent in chemical laboratories, and finally a trip to Akron, Ohio, home of the rubber industry, was she able to find the material that she now uses exclusively.

The Saenger Theatre is proud to be able to bring to Hope the greatest water production on tour.

In addition to the water portion of the show, "Water Follies" presents seven big acts of vaudeville, featuring The Mandel Bros., former stars of George White's Scandals, Greenwich, Folies, and Metro Goldwyn
Mayers' short subjects.
